

CURE FOR HYDROPHOBIA.

I can give some facts which may be of use to somebody, thereby saving life. The time between the biting of an animal by a mad dog and showing signs of hydrophobia is not less than nine days, but may be nine months. After the animal has become rabid, a bite or scratch with the teeth upon a person, or slobber coming in contact with a sore or raw place, would produce hydrophobia just as soon as though he had been bitten by a mad dog. Hydrophobia can be prevented, and I will give what is well known to be an infallible remedy, if properly administered, for man or beast. A dose for a horse or a cow should be about four times as great as for a person. It is not too late to give medicine any time before the spasms come on. The first dose for a person is one and a half ounces of elecampane root, bruised, put in a pint of new wilk, reduced to one-half by boiling, then taken all at one dose in the morning, fasting until afternoon, or at least a very light diet after several hours have clapsed. The second dose the same as the first, except take two ounces of the root; third dose the same as last, to be taken every other day. Three doses are needed, and there need be no fear. This I know from my own experience, and I know of a number of other cases where it has been entirely successful. This is no guesswork. Those persons I allude to were bitten by rabid dogs, and were penned up to see if they would go mad; they did go mad, and did bite the persons. This remedy has been used in and about Philadelphia for forty years and longer, with great success, and is known as the Goodman remedy. I am acquainted with a physician who told me he knew of its use for more than thirty years, but never knew a case that failed where it was properly administered. Among other cases he mentioned was one where a number of cows had been bitten by a mad dog. To half of this number they administered this remedy, to the other half not. The latter all died of hydrophobia, while those that took the elecampane and milk showed no sig A CURE FOR SMALL POX. - A correspond-t of the Stockton, Gal., Herald gives the following as a sure cure for small pox:

I herewith appind a receipt which has been used to my knowledge in hundred of cases. It will prevent the small pox, even though the pittings are filling. When Jenner discovered the cow pox in England the world of science hurled an avalanche fame on his head; but when the most scientific school of medicine in the world—that of Paris—published this recipe as a panacea for small pox, it parents in every instance. It is not taken by a well person. It were scarlet fever. Here is the result have used it and cured many children of the scarlet fever; here it is as I have used it to cure the small pox, when learned physicians said the parienz must die;

"Sulphate of zinc, one grain; fox glove (digitalis), one grain; half a teaspoonful of sugar; mix with two tablespoonsful or water."

When the above has been thooughly mixed, add four ounces of water. Take a spoonful every hour. Either disease will disappear in twelve hours. For a child, smaller dose, acply ans to use this, we would be no need perience, use this for that terrile and dreadful scourge. ent of following as a sure cure for small pox: quiry having been given to old dark work at job prices, and moderate assortment of new medium work, with chief attention having been given to shirtings, grays, indigo blue and other staples, of which the aggregate takings have been large, and the demand of some steadiness.—N. Y. A Small-Pox A young farmer in East Providence has four acres of potatoes which were manured with nothing but a liberal application of fertilizer and 600 pounds of potash. From a portion of this field, by actual measurement, and that not the best part of the field, over 200 bushels to the acre were dug. A Small-Pox and Scarlet Fever Remedy.
A correspondent of the Stockton (Cali-A correspondent of the Stockton (California) Herald writes as follows:

"I herewith append a receipt which has been used to my knewledge in hundreds of cases. It will prevent or cure the smallpox, though the pittings are filled. When Jenner discovered cow pox in England the world of science hurled an avalanche of fame upon his head; but when the most scientific school of medicine in the world—that of Paris—published this as a panacea for small-pox, it passed unheeded. It is as unfailing as fate, and conquers in every instance. It is harmless when taken by a well person. It will also cure scarlet fever. Here is the receipt as I have used it, and cured my children of scarlet fever; here it is as I have used it to cure the small-pox; when learned physicians said the patient must die, it cured: Sulphate of zinc, one grain; foxglove (digatalis,) one grain; half teaspoonful of water. When thoroughly mixed, add four ounces of water. Take a spoonful every hour. For a child, smaller doses according to the age. If countries would compel their physicians to use this there would be no use of pest houses. If you value advice and experience, use this for that terrible disease." fornia) Herald writes as follows: Gen. Butler's Silence.

How is General Benjamin F. Butler since the election? Where has that good man gone to? Well, sir, General Butler is just as large and round and happy today as he ever was in his life. He is neither melancholy or broken down. He worked tremendously through the campaign and is none the worse for it. He is a man of wonderful vitality, and if he has been silent since the election, it is no indication that he is not ready to speak with his old vigor and power when the proper time comes.—Colonel Jonas French. Gen. Butler's Silence. IS There are 5,000 children in Charleston, S. C., who are not attending school, chiefly through a lack of proper accommodations.
